District Couples United in Pretty Autumn Weddings

ARKINSTALL — McPEAK

Tall standards of gladioli in shades of red, pink and white graced the altar of the Blessed Sacrament Church in Wainwright on Sept. 7 for the early afternoon wedding of Miss Peggy McPeak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McPeak of Edmonton, to Mr. Fraser Arkinstall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arkinstall of Kinross.

The fitted bodice fastened down the back with tiny self covered buttons and was styled with a crisp stand-up collar and long sleeves which tapered to lily points over her wrists.

A coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones held her finger-tip veil in place and she carried a white Bible garlanded with American Beauty Roses.

Miss Eileen Miles, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a floor length gown of pastel green nylon net, with beaded satin bolero, with matching headpiece and carried a nosegay of autumn flowers centered with a yellow rose.

The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Daunroy of Viking. Guests were ushered by Mr. Donald Jensen of McLeod, brother of the groom, and Mr. Jim Hemphill of Viking.

The Big Talk About Town

The big talk about town at the moment is the coming visit of the Friendship train from Edmonton. The people who will be on this train will most likely have been visitors at many other points and will be quite used to being "received."

In their minds their reception in Irma will measure up or fail to measure up largely by a comparison with their other visits. If we have any measure of civic pride and if we like to have the name of Irma synonymous with progress, resourcefulness and friendship, we can make sure that this is the case with at least 90 people from the city of Edmonton on Monday, September 28. This can be accomplished however, only if the co-operation and interest of the whole Irma district is forthcoming in liberal measure.

The Board of Trade has a number of committees busy and will welcome all volunteer assistance that comes along. After all the committee work has been done, there still remains the need of a large crowd at the station to meet the train, mix with, and greet the visitors and make them feel that they have just struck the most friendly town they have had the good fortune to visit on their travels. The train arrives at 3:50 p.m. and leaves at 4:30.

A. C. Archibald, Pres. Board of Trade.

OFFER SIMPLE TEST TO SHOW SOBRIETY

TORONTO—one of the simplest ways to test whether a person is sober enough to drive a car is to have him stand on either foot with both eyes closed for 15 seconds.

Dr. Henry Newman of the Stanford University School of Medicine, Wednesday gave this recipe to the second International Conference on Alcohol and Road Traffic.

"I not infrequently use the test as an indication of when I am fit to go home after social drinking," he said.

"Anyone up to 50 should be able to do it when sober."

Dr. Newman suggested that persons being subjected to the test be given three attempts on each foot.

EDMONTON REPORT

By Donald F. Smith

EDMONTON — Vying with British Columbia's Doukhobors last week to provide the biggest news stories out of western Canada was the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which held its annual convention in Alberta's capital.

Attendance of more than 500 delegates, including the stars of Canada's business, industrial and economic circles assured the chamber of providing news of greater nationwide significance than skin-loving firebugs of the Kootenay. It was significant because their deliberations and decisions are followed closely by federal and provincial governments as well as other sections of the Canadian community.

Throughout the three days of general sessions it was to be noted the emphasis placed on the importance of western agriculture and the part huge grain crops are playing in Canada's economy. It figured in both the discussions of the country's business outlook and its role and future in world trade.

Alberta's rural communities and, for that matter, its principle cities actually don't have to be told that whether or not the farmer can sell his wheat its effects will make themselves known in the general economic picture.

Chamber speakers did not seem to think it was the farmer who must puzzle his way out of difficulties, but rather the solution lay in national and international policies. Take Maj. H. G. L. Strange, Scarle Grain Co. research director, for instance.

Member of the convention's panel discussing world trade, he classed farmers as instinctive free traders. Why? He said the farmer realizes that to be able to sell his surplus wheat and other products to foreign countries depends on the quantity of goods and services these countries can and are permitted to sell to Canadians, at prices competitive with Canadian-made goods.

Of course, the reason is that before the foreign countries can buy the foodstuffs they need from Canada, they must have dollars. They can only get them by exporting their products to this country, Maj. Strange said.

His solution will be viewed as drastic and overly-optimistic in many quarters. He suggested that Canada lead the way demolishing its import barriers by reducing tariffs by 20 per cent a year for the next five years. He believes it is an example other countries would follow.

Whether Maj. Strange's suggested policy is workable or not, the need for increased export of wheat particularly also was emphasized in an interview by United Grain Growers President J. E. Brownlee, who was attending the chamber convention.

As the congestion problem in the 1940's was defeated by sales, so increased export sales is the great hope now.

The alternative, if the big surpluses built up in these years of large crops are not going to be left to deteriorate, is the expenditure of considerable money for more storage space, he felt.

There were many predictions of a levelling off of business activity next year and the convention heard suggestions that 1954 would be a time of consolidating the gains of the past several years. But on the whole, the tone of forecasts was one of optimism, leaving little doubt that the country's business leaders and top government officials view the long term prospects for Canada's growth and economy with unrestrained confidence.

Alberta's cities, towns and communities were well-represented at the meeting through members of local chambers of commerce and boards of trade and agriculture.

Not taking place during the four days of the convention, but a highlight of the exodus of delegates from eastern Canada, was a special train trip to Alberta's Peace River country. On the return trip to the east, the special train, bearing more than 100 delegates, stopped for visits at one or two central and southern Alberta rural centres.

By the time the eastbound special crossed the Alberta-Sask. border, the delegates had spent more than a week in the province, not only listening to speeches but learning about the province from Albertans.
